A Rough Guide For Novice Navigators

A brief explanation of the type of sections and route instructions being used on the rally is shown below:

1) STANDARD SECTIONS

These sections are competitive using tight and twisty roads. They are designated by the end control as STC. You are only penalised for losing time on these sections.

If you do arrive early at the odd control (and are running behind your overall schedule) you are allowed to make up some time (but see note 4).

2) TRANSPORT SECTIONS

These are sections on main roads where time can be made up and are designated by the end control shown as TTC. You are not penalised for losing time on these sections, you are not penalised for arriving early and you can make up time (but see paragraph 5).

3) NEUTRAL SECTIONS

These are sections through PR sensitive areas in which the end control is shown as NTC. You are not penalised for losing time on these sections but you cannot make up time on these sections no matter how late you are. If you do so the penalty is a Fail.

4) TIME MAKE-UP AND THE 3/4 TIME RULE

We have stated on the time cards how much time can be made up at each control. If you make up more than the time stated then we cannot account for anybody who cannot read.

You only need to make up time if you are running late in the first place - on no account should you leave any control before your scheduled time - Penalty 1 Fail.

5) OUTSIDE TOTAL LATENESS (OTL)

Always watch OTL time. If you are more than 30 minutes late at any time control then you pick up a penalty of 1 Fail, which is the same as not reporting there in the first place. So if you do reach OTL don't keep plodding on - instead miss out a section and get yourself back within 30 minutes lateness. Remember, the penalty for missing out a passage check is only 5 minutes, thereby allowing anyone who is severely behind schedule to "cut and run" without incurring too many Fails.

Finally, it is genuinely not our intention or desire to catch crews out and give someone a Fail for petty timing infringements. So if you do have any questions, please ask beforehand.
